Tuesday Is Farm Bureau Day At 1952 Kentucky State Fair

Tuesday, September 9, is Farm Bureau Day at the 1952 Kentucky State Fair.

This is the special day set aside for farmers in the state of Kentucky to attend the State Fair together and is expected to be one of the largest attendance days at the fair, John Koon, State Farm Bureau director, said.

The fair, which is being held at the Fairgrounds, will have a short program right after lunch in the grandstand, Koon said, but is the purpose to detract from the wonders of the whole fair.

The program begins at 12:30 p.m. with the finals of the Rural Gospel Quartet. At 1:30 p.m., the square dance will be performed by the Union County Junior Farm Bureau, and at 1:50 the drawing of valuable farm prizes will be held. The prizes this year are a 20-cu-bic-foot home freezer, a 4-ton farm wagon, 2,000 pounds of various types of feed, a power lawn mower, a weathervane, fence seed, 1,000 pounds of hybrid seed corn and many others.

Funeral Held For Gregory J. Schmitt

Funeral services for Gregory J. Schmitt, brother of Louis P. Schmitt, Jefferson, were held at 2:30 a.m. Monday, August 25, at the Barrett Funeral Home and at 9 a.m. at St. Raphael the Archangel Church. Burial was in Zachary Taylor National Cemetery.

Mr. Schmitt, 64, died Thursday, August 21, at the Veterans Administration Hospital. He lived at 2930 Bardonia Road. He was a member of the Farmers and Home Owners, the V.F.W. and the Kentucky Farm Bureau. He also belonged to the Knights of Columbus and St. Joseph Orphans Society.

Other survivors include sisters, Mrs. Melania Green, Mrs. Otilia Lauer, and Mrs. Edward Ruxer; brothers, Vincent A. and Gust Schmitt; several nieces and nephews.

Seminary Presented Fuller Oil Portrait

The unveiling and presentation of an oil portrait of the Rev. Dr. Elmer A. Fuller, late pastor of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, was held at the 1952 opening convocation of the seminary.

Mrs. Fuller and her three children presented the portrait, which was painted by Mrs. Sneed Williams. It was accepted by the Rev. Dr. Duke K. McCall, Jr., Fuller's successor.

Dr. Fuller, 81, died in 1942.

Services Held Monday For Victim Of Korea

Funeral services were held Monday in Owen Funeral Home for Pfc. Charles (Deane) C. Goff, 24, a member of the U.S. Marine Corps, who was killed in Korea June 24.

COUNTY'S NEWEST SCHOOL BUILDING

Shown here is the 400-pupil Orville J. Stivers School Building on Westport Road, near Hubbard's Lane, which was ready for occupancy Tuesday when the 1952-1953 school term began. The building contains 12 general purpose classrooms, a cafeteria, library, visual aid room, music room, applied arts room and an all purpose room that will be used for recreation. A folding partition between the cafeteria and the all purpose room can be removed to make space for the entire student body. The building is not fancy as the County Board of Education wanted to get the best school building they could get for the least money. The cost was $345,208. Mrs. Ruth E. Osborne, former teacher at Greathouse, is principal.

Appellate Court Denies Plea To Delay Opening Of Schools

The Court of Appeals at Frankfort Wednesday denied a petition of the Jefferson County Board of Education to close Louisville and Jefferson County schools because of the polio epidemic.

The ruling upheld a decision of Judge Lawrence Grauman in Jefferson Circuit Court, who earlier in the week declined to interfere with plans of the Louisville and Jefferson County Boards of Education to open schools on schedule.

The action was brought by Commonwealth's Attorney A. Scott Hamilton and County Attorney Lawrence Duncan. William T. Baskett, counsel for the city board, and Lucian L. Johnson, attorney for the county board, defended the action before the high court.

Registration was completed in county high schools Thursday and classes were to begin Friday. Elementary schools, for the most part, completed registration Tuesday and Wednesday. Figures were about what officials anticipated but they admitted that the polio situation had some effect on the enrollment figure.

A look at the calendar says it's school time again. And that means lunches need extra attention. You'll get a demerit if the lunch that goes to school (or for the one that goes to work too, for that matter) doesn't meet the appetite needs, serve the carrier well in nutritional foods, have lunch appeal as well. Your homework is easier if a lunch packing plan proceeds the chore. Make a plan for the shopping, for the preparation, for the storing of supplies at home. It's an A for Excellence if the lunch contains milk, vegetables and fruit, something hot, a protein food, a simple dessert, whole grain cereal. On your bulletin board write a note to yourself to use scrambled eggs in sandwiches for the lunch box. To vary the flavor, first cook a small amount of chopped green pepper and finally chopped onion in a tablespoon of butter—then stir in four lightly beaten eggs, salt and pepper. Cook over low heat until done just right, let cool and spread between halves of buttered buns. Call them egg-burgers, if you please!

Pineapple can change the flavor—when you combine hard cooked eggs with well drained pineapple and cottage or cream cheese for a fruit flavored sandwich filling to use on buttered whole wheat bread, graham crackers, or orange bread.

You'll be rewarded an E for effort when you vary the breads that you use. Combine white and dark bread, a slice of each for one of the sandwiches. Make fruit or nut breads that serve two purposes—as a sandwich or simple dessert. If you're freezer space, one of the loaves can be wrapped and frozen, kept good for two or three weeks. Fruit-nut bread keeps well—the family will enjoy this bread for supper, served with soup, fruit salad and milk. What's left gets well the lunch box makings, too.

Mrs. Pearl J. Hawk, Foods Specialist, gives this recipe: 2 cups white flour, 2 cups whole wheat flour, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup seedless raisins, 1 cup chopped nuts, 2 eggs, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons melted fat. Sift flour (white), then add whole wheat flour, sugar, salt, and baking powder. Add raisins and nuts. Beat eggs, then add milk and melted fat. Combine the two mixtures and stir until all flour is dampened. Pour into greased pans. Allow to stand 15-20 minutes, then bake in moderate oven, 350 to 375 degrees F. for 45 minutes.

Make honey cookies for this way—1/2 cup butter, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup honey, 1 egg, 2 cups sifted flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup chopped nuts, 1/4 cup chopped dates or raisins. Cream butter and sugar, mix well beaten egg and honey together and add to butter-sugar mixture. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Add nuts and fruit. Chill the dough thoroughly, then roll, cut in thin slices and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F) until lightly browned.

Lon Woolley, Ripley County, Indiana, will bring two head of the "largest cattle in the world" to the Kentucky State Fair, September 5-13. Ed Aubrey, who arranged for the showing, said the actual weight of "Bozo" will be undetermined until the animal can be weighed after its arrival at the fair. The weight has been estimated at 4,000 pounds. Woolley previously has refused to move the cattle from his barn and never has revealed the feeding formula he uses.

HIGH PROTEIN RATINGS NOT HARMFUL

The expression "protein poisoning" has been heard in livestock circles for a long time. The idea probably originated as a result of early cattle experiments, which referred to "cottonseed meal poisoning."

Later experiments have demonstrated that the conditions observed were due to lack of Vitamin A and not to an excessive intake of protein.

Most practical farmers and nutritionists know that proteins, whether of plant or animal source, that are unspoiled are not toxic even when fed in large amounts. Experimental animals have been fed excessive amounts of proteins in their rations for months and even years at a time, and yet no cases of so-called "protein poisoning" have been demonstrated.

There has not been a large number of attempts made to determine the maximum amount of protein that animals can tolerate because proteins are usually costly, and hence, there is no practical reason to feed excessive amounts. Also, biochemists and nutritionists do not consider proteins, as such, as being poisonous. They have learned long ago that any abnormal effects from high proteins are a manifestation of deficiency or lack of some essential nutrient.

Years ago, when all mash chick starting rations were being introduced, protein poisoning was heard rather frequently. At that time, a number of authorities in nutrition from leading Agricultural Experiment Stations were consulted. Typical of the answers of these authorities is this reply: "I have never seen anything that I could even guess was protein poisoning, and I have fed rather heavy protein intake. People generally have been inclined to look for something toxic, instead of looking to discover if something has been left out."

U. S. Operation Of State Farms Hit By Stanford

"Another example of how utterly ridiculous it is to try to operate Kentucky farms from Washington is the recent USDA directive prohibiting farmers from using government-purchased hay for feeding sheep and workstock." This comment was made this week by J. E. Stanford, executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau.

Stanford sent a telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan vigorously protesting the department's directive issued recently, that would not permit farmers to use hay purchased under the government emergency drought hay program for sheep and workstock.

Stanford continued that the ever increasing tendency by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to control farming operations inevitably results in unworkable and contradictory edicts propagated from the Department's offices in Washington. In this case, Stanford added, it actually could make a liar out of a farmer should he promise to use hay he purchased through the government program solely for the use of beef and dairy cattle and not for other livestock on the farm.

"Sheep is a major source of income for thousands of Kentucky farmers, and workstock constitute a main means of cultivating and harvesting crops for a large number of our farmers. We respectfully urge that farmers be permitted to use hay for sheep and workstock as well as beef and dairy cattle," the telegram said.

FERN CREEK P-T.A.

The Fern Creek Grade School P-T.A. will meet Tuesday, September 9. Following the business meeting scheduled for 7:30 p.m., open house will be observed. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. M. E. Sanders, publicity chairman, announced. All parents are urged to attend.

The State Department of Welfare paroled 62 men and five women from the State penitentiaries last month, including 48 from the LaGrange Reformatory, 14 from Edwidge penitentiary and five from the women's prison. Releases were effected after jobs had been promised for each of the paroled.

ITS BIGGER THAN YOU THINK

The living room is located so that it can be closed up when not in use.

Each bedroom has more than adequate closet space—the closets in the master bedroom. The closet for the front bedroom is designed with sliding doors on both sides so that it may serve the bedroom and also be used for the visitors' coats.

The back entrance into the bedroom allows the field hands convenient access to the bathroom to wash up before entering the rest of the house.

The wide overhanging eaves were designed for your comfort. They will keep the sun off the walls in the summer and will prevent your having to close the windows during light showers. In addition, they keep the rain off the walls, thus lessening maintenance costs.

This home will be very attractive if done with casement windows and asbestos siding or double-casement sidwail shingles.

THE AMERICAN WAY

AFTERMATH TEN TIMES VOICE

By DEWITT Emory
(President of the National Small Business Men's Association.)

The steel strike is over, at least the mills are running. Actually, however, the strike is still on for many of the manufacturers and fabricators who had to shut down because they ran out of material. And the "strike" hasn't started yet for thousands of small plants, some pretty big ones too, which will have to shut down sometime within the next thirty or sixty days because they can't get steel.

Some of these plants will be down for three or four months, maybe longer, and others will never reopen because the owners will not be able to carry the overhead while waiting for steel and thus it will be forced into bankruptcy.

Before the strike, defense production was taking about 20% of all the steel produced. For the next several months defense production will take at least 40% of the total. This, on top of the twenty million tons lost by the strike, means that an awful lot of non-defense manufacturers aren't going to get any steel at all until sometime next year. The steel industry has had enough but the aftermath will be ten times worse.

National Disgrace

I said in my last piece that the steel strike is a national disgrace. It is and if it hasn't hit you yet, directly or indirectly, it will when it does remember that it was all caused by one man, Phil Murray, President of the C.I.O., and Harry Truman, President of the United States.

In the final settlement Murray accepted terms which the steel industry offered to give. If he had accepted the terms which the steel industry offered to give, the strike would have been a week old. Truman, any time after the first day of the strike or even before it started, could have stopped it by invoking the Taft-Hartley Act. Then the procedures set up by this Act were put into operation, the steel workers would have had an opportunity to vote by secret ballot on whether to accept the steel mills' last best offer or go on strike. That ballot would have been held and it would have been a possibility of a strike.

However, Truman, playing dirty war politics which is all he knows, told Murray before the strike started that he would not use the Taft-Hartley Act and the strike was on. This country, that means you and me and all of our neighbors and other people, has been a terrible price which it's impossible to calculate because Sidney Hillman, a union labor boss, cleared that little guy for Vice President in 1944.

Future In Doubt

What is in a matter of few weeks, may take his miners out on strike and shut the steel mills down again.

How much longer are the American people going to stand by this sort of thing? How much longer are they going to permit a half dozen unscrupulous, power-hungry union labor bosses to have complete control over the welfare of 160 million Americans?

When are they — the people — going to have sense enough or guts enough to force Congress to bust up the union labor monopoly which is by far the most dangerous monopoly this country has ever known?

The remedy, which I have spelled out in these pieces time and again, is for Congress to amend the Taft-Hartley Act to put a ban on industry-wide bargaining.

Now while the congressional campaign is on would be a mighty good time for you to find out how the candidates of both parties in your district stand on this important matter. Ask them point blank, "Will you vote to put a ban on industry-wide bargaining?" and, if necessary, insist on a straight-forward yes or no answer.

This is only one of several things in the national picture which must be corrected if every American is to continue to have the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness so long as he does not interfere with the same rights of any other American. I'll discuss some of the others in future columns.

County Home News

By Mrs. Ida Carithers

Bro. Fab, a visiting preacher of Fiberville Baptist Church in the absence of Bro. Conner, came to the Home Sunday with several members of that church. We all enjoyed Bro. Fab's message. The members brought candy for the old people.

Mrs. Vena Viss, visited her cousins, Mrs. J. W. Hurd and Ethyl Elmer and daughter Geraldine. They just returned from Tulsa, Oklahoma.

My friend, Mrs. Irene Crawford, had a birthday August 7. She received a beautiful Elgin watch and other gifts. Many happy returns Irene.

Two of the old men had a birthday Saturday, August 30. The welfare gave them a decorated cake that was just beautiful. The men were Mr. Kelley and Mr. Sarno.

We all enjoyed the nice rain that fell Monday night. Everything looks so nice and green.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Carithers called to see the writer.

one evening last week. They had just returned from an interesting trip with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cox and sons of Ohio. They visited Niagara Falls, part of the west lakes, and other noted places.

Mrs. and Mrs. B. M. Darnell, of Taylorsville, and Mr. Stroder Robinson, Jeffersontown, visited the Home, Sunday afternoon.

ABOARD CARRIER

James N. Clayton, seaman, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Clayton, Prospect, is serving aboard the USS Coral Sea, one of the three largest aircraft carriers in the world, now in Mediterranean waters. James joined the Navy in April, 1952, following his graduation from Flagg High School and received his recruit training at San Diego.

Rev. Howard Detrick Accepts Ohio Pastorate

Eastwood News
Mrs. Louis Eppinger

The members of the Eastwood Christian Church gave their pastor, Rev. Howard Detrick, a farewell dinner in the church basement Sunday, August 31. The members and community at large felt the great loss sustained by the leaving of Rev. Detrick. He was a great leader and a beloved friend to all. Rev. Detrick was pastor of the Eastwood church for the past six years. Under his leadership the church has grown to an unbelievable height. He graduated from the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky., in June, this year.

Rev. Detrick has accepted a call to the pastorate of the church in Warren, Ohio. The members of the church and all his friends pray God's blessing for him in his new field of endeavor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Detrick, Columbus, Ohio, parents of Rev. Detrick, surprised him by coming down to be with him on his last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Williams and daughter, Keran, of Dayton, Ohio, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Cottle. They left for West Liberty, Ky., to visit the Rev. and Mrs. Williams. The Cottles joined them over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan are the proud parents of a little daughter, Terry Gail.

The family of Cecil Bradley have left Eastwood for Florida, where Mr. Bradley is employed.

Mr. Erb Morgan has returned from a vacation at Buella Vella Hotel, Cave City, Ky.

Miss Anna Simmons, who has been spending the summer months with her grandmother in Morgantown, Ky., has returned.

The Eastwood Homemakers Club will meet Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. J. Rosenberg, Aiken Road. It is necessary that all members be present to enroll for the coming year. Members of the club will work at the State Fair, September 11, from 12 to 4.

PRESTONIA P.-T. A.

The first meeting of the Prestonia Parent-Teacher Association for the 1952-1953 school term will be held at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, September 9, in the school auditorium. A tea, honoring mothers of children entering school this term, is to feature the program.

Mt. Washington News
By Mrs. T. H. Parrish

The Lions and their ladies met Monday night on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Japer. In the midst of the festivities the rain and wind drove them to the basement but the enjoyment was undiminished. The beautiful, delicious and tasty good things to eat were beyond description and plentiful enough for double the crowd.

School opened Tuesday but we have not learned the enrollment. Mr. George Yanky, principal, has been able to secure his full quota of teachers.

The revival at Bethel closed Sunday night. Chandler delivered some stirring sermons, reported by those in faithful attendance.

Rev. M. B. May, Misses Lee and Susan May left this week for Niagara Falls, N. Y., where Rev. May will officiate at the marriage of his nephew. They will return next week and bring back Lloyd and Ann May, who have been visiting relatives the past month.

Marianne and Robert Rouse, of St. Louis, who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. C. L. Stansbury and their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Rouse, received word of the arrival of a baby brother last week and returned home Sunday by plane.

Mrs. Vernon Moore, who was operated on last week is doing nicely. Mrs. Arch Richardson, who had a badly broken leg, and Mr. Will Calvert, who fell and broke his collar bone and a rib, are both at home. Mrs. Minnie McArthur had another heart attack and is confined to her bed.

Mrs. Martha Parrish, who has been hospitalized six weeks, is convalescing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Parrish, where she will be for two or three weeks.

Mr. Alvin Haebler, wife and children, of Janesville, Wis., were the recent guests of his sister, Mrs. Lee McArthur. Her niece Sue Woods of Smithfield, was with her several weeks.

Mrs. Dorothy Yates, of Maud, and Mr. Harold Dennis Fairfield visited Mrs. Lillian Parrish Saturday night and all went for a drive and refreshments.

Mrs. Doris Ann Pound was house guest of Miss Arlene Smith, Buchel, from Wednesday until Sunday.

Mrs. Mabel Harris and Miss Mabel Ann Criswell, Dallas, Texas, are visiting the former's father, Mr. J. B. Swearingen.

Miss Helen Spurr, who has been visiting her parents at Waverford, has returned to Cincinnati, where she is teaching a business course in one of the schools.

Prof. Oscar Galloway, of Illinois, spent last week with his mother, Mrs. J. B. Galloway.

Misses Lexie Lee Lloyd and Eleanor McFarland spent the holiday week-end in Owensboro with the latter's aunt, Miss Geneva McFarland.

Rev. Stettinette and wife were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Armstrong.

GOOD HEALTH

1. WHAT ARE THE MAJOR TYPES OF HEART DISEASE?
2. HOW SHOULD YOU TREAT HEART DISEASE?
3. ARE NIGHT-SWEATS IN CHILDREN SERIOUS?

There are many types of heart disease. Ninety per cent of all heart patients suffer from one of three types of the disease—rheumatic, hypertensive and coronary. Children between 5 and 15 are the chief types of rheumatic fever which damages the heart valves and causes rheumatic heart disease. Hypertension, or high blood pressure, causes the heart to enlarge and puts a damaging strain on the heart and arteries. This usually attacks middle-aged people. Coronary heart disease is caused by arteriosclerosis and is most common among old people.

Answer to Question No. 2: As a rule, night-sweats in children are not serious. They are usually due to an over-heated room and to too many bed-covers. If the night-sweats persist despite proper room temperature and proper covering and if the child seems usually healthy, by all means consult your family doctor. (Copyright 1952 by Health Information Foundation)

Answer to Question No. 3: Little Miss Sally Spurr, Buchel, visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Spurr, at Waterford, last week.

Mrs. Myrtle Mothershead spent last week with her brother, Pearl King, who is in the hospital.

Mrs. Lillian Parrish spent last Thursday with Mrs. Minnie McArthur who is ill and Friday with Mrs. H. P. Wigginton and Miss Georgia Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ryan, Sr., and grandson, Robert Allen, are vacationing with relatives in Alabama.

Mrs. Manie Harris, who spent the summer in Louisville, has moved into one of the McAfee apartments.

Mrs. Lizzie McGee is with her granddaughter, Mrs. B. M. Clark, Mr. Clark and wife. During her stay, Miss Birta Harris, who has been with her all summer, is at her own home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Moore, Shively, visited relatives here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McArthur recently entertained at dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Neel from Florida. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corder and Mr. and Mrs. John Crider, of Louisville.

Mrs. Betty Day, Shively, spent the weekend with her grandmother, Mrs. Georgia Moore and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Armstrong have returned from a recent motor trip to New York and other eastern places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Parrish spent one week of their vacation in Lexington and Cincinnati.

Mrs. W. W. Spurr and children, Buchel, Mrs. Mabel McAfee and Mrs. Lillian Parrish spent Tuesday with Mrs. E. E. Found and family.
